Nominations are now open for the

ALCHEMIA INDUSTRY RESEARCH AWARD

The Alchemia Industry Research Award aims to recognise innovative research achievements in the biotech industry.

The award will be presented at '3D at the Cove', the RACI Biomolecular Chemistry's Divisional Meeting at Couran Cove Island Resort, Queensland, 13-17 July 2008.

Communicating innovation from the industry

The top five applicants will be given the opportunity to present the company's research at the conference. An independent panel will short list five submissions. Those five will be invited to make a twenty minute oral presentation based on their submission as part of the conference program. The panel will select the winner from these presentations. The Alchemia Industry Research Award will be presented at the Conference Dinner, Wednesday 16 July 2008.

Am I eligible?

1. Industry-related research – either performed in a company, or as part of a collaboration between industry and a research group;
2. Research completed in Australia or New Zealand;
3. Submitted as abstract for oral presentation at this conference;
4. Individual nominee registered for the conference; and
5. Applicants must be available to present the research in person.

How do I apply?

Easy! Just indicate on your Conference Registration enrolment that you wish to be considered for the Alchemia Industry Research Award.
